“Development in Siberia and the Russian Far East is one of our national priorities in 21st century. We have to solve unprecedented issues which necessitate unique measures.”

LOCATION: VLADIVOSTOK, RUSSIA

Economic development in the Russian Far East is one of the key priorities of the Russian Federation. The Russian territory from Baikal Lake to the Pacific Ocean has a rich natural resource base, and its proximity to dynamically emerging markets in the Pacific Rim provides an opportunity for this part of Russia to be an integral economic partner in the region.

Vladivostok - is a port city in the Far East of Russia. Located on Muravyev-Amursky peninsula and islands in Peter the Great Gulf, it is the final destination on the Trans-Siberian Railway. It is the seaport of the Russian Far East and it is ranked fourth for goods turnover in the region. Furthermore, it is the main naval base for the Russian Pacific fleet. The city is largest scientific and educational center of the Far East region; most notably, Far Eastern Federal University and Far East Office of the Russian Academy of Sciences are located in the city.

In September 2012, the APEC summit took place in Vladivostok on Russky Island. Meetings between heads of state and economic representatives from more than 20 countries in the Pacific Rim were held in the city.
