

EAST RUSSIA VLADIVOSTOK
ECONOMIC 3–5 SEPTEMBER
FORUM 2015

From September 3 to 5 2015, Vladivostok will host Russia's first ever East Russia Economic Forum. The Forum is held by decree of Russian Federation President Vladimir Putin, who has defined the development of the Russian Far East as a national priority for the entire 21st century.

Guests of the forum will be presented with a new Russian Far East and new investment opportunities: fast developing territories, support for investment projects, as well as the free port of Vladivostok. All public management structures are welcoming entrepreneurs, providing them with tax relief, removing administrative barriers and providing infrastructure for their projects.

The Russian Far East is:

- An area known for its natural resources: oil and gas, ferrous and non-ferrous metals and clean, fresh water sources;
- A region rich with forests and fish;
- A place of unique logistical advantages.

The Russian Far East is the new development opportunity for the Asia-Pacific region.

Step into the future! We look forward to seeing you at the East Russia Economic Forum in Vladivostok!

Registration will be held between June 24 and August 16
